

Story

In this quest, you awake after an asteroid impact has fired out land. Wandering around you try to find a way to escape the ashes left on the planet. You soon realise that the world is being consumed by an alien-noid wave that grows stronger the longer you stay on this ever-changing globe.

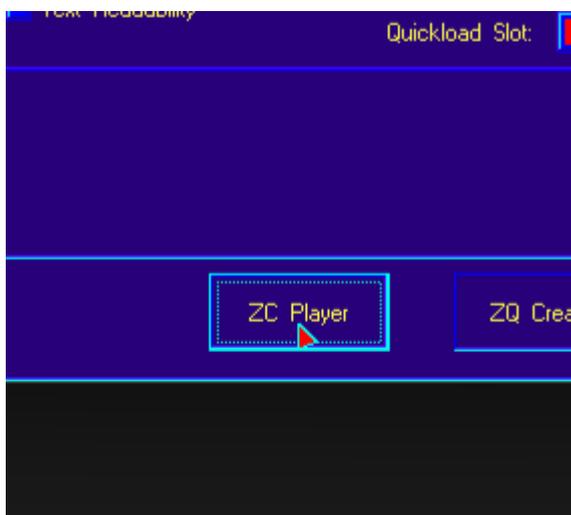

In your search to escape you will encounter luscious yet deadly landscapes, gaining new weapons and access to new areas, with the enemies and traps being enveloped by the alien lifeform intaking the planet. To leave, you may have to kill the root of it all.
